

Good Colleges'
Courses Guide

2011 – 2012

Your handbook for great Bible-related, ministry and theology qualifications

Dear friends

We are delighted to bring you this Good Colleges' Courses Guide 2011–2012.

The mission of Bible Society is to make the Bible available, accessible and credible today. We want to see this happen within churches, but also through churches to the wider culture. We recognise the key role which church leaders, such as yourselves, can play in this vital mission. We believe that by increasing people's knowledge of the Bible, the ways it has been understood through history, its impact on the world and its significance for us all today, we can all help to achieve this.

With Christian greetings,

Yours sincerley

James Catford
Group Chief Executive, Bible Society

We believe that training for mission and ministry requires rigorous engagement with the Bible, an acute awareness of the needs of the world, a deep understanding of theology and a discerning heart as to how to be the people of God in the 21st century. And all this so we can follow Jesus more closely and courageously.

'The experience has been one of growth, challenge and reward'

Centre for Youth Ministry

www.centreforyouthministry.ac.uk

Where can you study?

CYM operates through a network of Regional Centres and training venues.

CYM Regional Centres are operated by the member organisations of CYM and benefit from the resources that these educational institutions and organisations bring for delivering the BA teaching.

- Bristol Baptist College
- Ridley College, Cambridge
- St John's, Nottingham
- Belfast Bible College/Youthlink
- Oxford Youthworks

Each regional centre also has a network of local partners who contribute teaching, research and professional practice.

MA students attend study blocks held at Bristol and Oxford, with regional study days and ongoing tutorials.

Training days for Engage are available at venues around the country, these include the regional centres.

Engage

Engage is an accessible, flexible and exciting training course, combining practical, innovative and theoretical youth work, providing opportunities for full-time, part-time and voluntary youth workers, to share good practice at group training days. Completion of the course will provide you with a youth support work qualification.

Foundation Degree in Community Based Pioneer Ministry

Developed in partnership with the Creative Communities Unit at Staffordshire University, the FdA in Community Based Pioneer Ministry offers students the opportunity to gain skills in pioneer ministry in community settings, which will be transferable into a range of contexts.

“For years I looked for a course that didn’t exist. Now it does.”
Matt, pioneer in training

The CMS Pioneer Mission Leadership Training Course is a new, creative way of equipping and mobilising Christians for ground-breaking, transformational, sustainable mission. The course:

1. gives pioneers, who often find themselves “on the edge”, a supportive, learning community — a place to belong
2. equips pioneers to initiate and carry on mission projects that have a wider impact on the church and society
3. meets an identified need within the wider church for a diverse approach to training mission pioneers

In short, this unique course equips pioneers — lay, ordained and anywhere in between — for effective mission in a new way. It is not only a validated course of study; it’s a new course of action.

Ways to participate and qualifications offered:

1. Do a Foundation Degree in Ministry. Through partnership with the Diocese of Oxford, we can offer students a Foundation Degree in Ministry from Oxford Brookes University. This encompasses 16 modules. Put it together how you like, as long as you complete all 16 modules with a minimum of three a year.
2. Do a Certificate in Ministry, which encompasses eight modules (accredited by Oxford Brookes University through a partnership with the Diocese of Oxford).
3. Take an individual module or modules at your convenience (not accredited).
4. Go to the pioneer practitioner sessions. These are based in Oxford and are attended by pioneers in the region who are training at different colleges.

Cliff College provides a high standard of Biblical and theological education, as well as practical training. Students are supported in preparing for a wide variety of roles in the church or wider community. Whether you come for a short course, a degree programme, or as a research student, we promise you this: you'll be challenged, changed and equipped.

All degrees are validated and awarded by the University of Manchester, one of the world's top academic institutions.

New for 2011 – our Summer Bible School w/c 20/6/11 for anyone wanting to go a little deeper in their relationship with the Bible.
