

RECORD BREAKERS

BEAT 1 ORIGINS: RECORD BREAKERS

The following icebreakers are 60-second challenges, often with a chance of breaking a world record (all world records are correct as of March 2024).

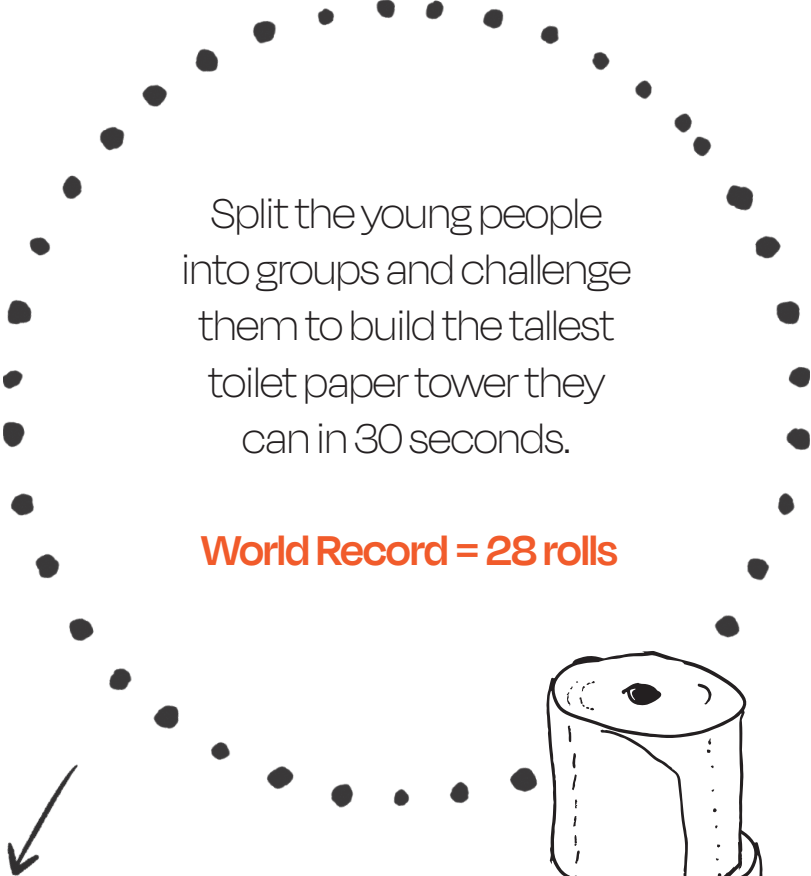

Create groups with up to five young people in each and ask them to list as many animals as they can in 60 seconds.

Once the time is up, each group must read out their list of animals and eliminate any that appear on multiple group lists. A group scores a point for each animal on their list that no other group has written down. The group with the most points wins (optional – hand out bonus points for the most unique animals).

RECORD BREAKERS

The following icebreakers are 60-second challenges, often with a chance of breaking a world record (all world records are correct as of March 2024).

Split the young people into groups and challenge them to build the tallest toilet paper tower they can in 30 seconds.

World Record = 28 rolls

- YOU WILL NEED
-
1. Toilet rolls.

