A MEAL TO REMEMBER

A SPECIAL MEAL

Jesus and his friends ate bread and drank wine at their special meal. Jesus told his friends to remember him when they ate bread and drank wine. His friends didn't understand. Why would they need to remember Jesus if he was with them? Jesus was trying to help his friends understand what was going to happen to him.

Jesus knew that the rulers were going to arrest him and that he would die on a cross. Jesus also knew that he would come back to life.

PUT YOURSELF IN THE PICTURE

Do some foods remind you of special memories?

Jesus' friends didn't understand what Jesus was telling them at first. Why did they need to remember Jesus with bread and wine?

After Jesus died it began to make sense, and Jesus' friends today still remember Jesus with bread and wine in church. This special meal is called Holy Communion.

When Jesus' friends remember him by eating bread and drinking wine, they are remembering that he died because he loves them. The bread reminds Jesus' friends of his body and the wine, his blood. But Jesus' friends also remember that Jesus came back to life.

What could you do to remember Jesus?

EXTRA

When Jesus came back to life, his friends saw him. There were special meals, conversations, and times outside together. The invitation for the next few weeks together is to talk about Jesus coming back to life and to think about being friends with Jesus.
